

Greg Gilbert has worn many hats. He has worn the hat of a telephone repairman, supervisor and manager. He spent nearly three decades with a fortune 100 telecommunications company. His last 12 years prior to retirement were spent as the primary Human Resources contact to over 2200 team members. That is where he learned the only person he could change was himself. That began his personal growth journey.

His current roles include;

- Husband to his wife, Sandy, of 41 plus years
- Dad to two daughters
- Papaw to 3.5 grandkids,
- Life Insurance Consultant,
- Speaker
- Leadership and Life Coach
- Author
- Singer/Songwriter that picked up a guitar at 50 years old.

As a new supervisor, he began Journaling in 1978 when an attorney said, "If it isn't written, it didn't occur." He began Journaling successes, failures and what led to each. Those decades of journals eventually led to hundreds of presentations to thousands around the country and multiple books.

His most recent experience as a Life Insurance Consultant has led to additional journals and a newly discovered key to success in health, finance, relationships, and business. It involves establishing Non-Negotiable standards in our lives.

This recent experience has also led to a new program, video series and book. These can help himself and others create a Peaceful, Predictable, Profitable, Healthy, Non-Negotiable Life.

The mission statement of the Non-Negotiable Life Company is four words.

We Coach Predictable Futures!TM
